

QUINCYAN OF THE WEEK!

Lenny Bart, this week's Quincyan, is the Managing Artistic Director of the Quincy Community Theatre. He and wife, Tricia live in the heart of the Historic District with their ten year old cat named Max. Tricia works at the Quincy Society of Fine Arts and the Quincy Art Center. They enjoy traveling, bike trips, reading, cooking, gardening, Quincy Gems baseball games and socializing with friends. Lenny is a member of Rotary and plans to join the Unitarian Church.

Graduating from the Nation Shakespeare Conservatory in New York City in 1984, Lenny then began an acting career. He has toured forty-three states as an actor, including Alaska, performed in Europe productions twice and produced world premieres in New York City, New Jersey and Minnesota where he was born.

His awards and recognitions include Best Actor and Best Director from the New Jersey Star-Ledger, Best Production (twice) and Certificate of Excellence from the New Jersey State Council for the Arts.

Lenny will turn fifty this year and plans to mark an item off his bucket list by visiting his 50th state. He says to count as a visit you must spend the night, not just travel through.

Quincy, Quincy Community Theatre attendees and QuincyBuzz are very glad Lenny decided to do more than visit Illinois and chose Quincy to call home.
